College fair offers city schools' students admissions, scholarships, information

Sac City students will have the opportunity to receive on-the-spot admissions, scholarships and college admissions advice at the Tenth Annual Historically Black College Recruitment Fair, sponsored by the Sacramento City Unified School District and The United College Action Network.

The fair begins at 9 a.m. at Sacramento City College, 3835 Freeport Blvd.

All students are encouraged to attend the fair. Attending universities have accepted a diverse group of SCUSD students and offered hundreds of thousands of dollars in scholarships during the fair's history. Several of the institutions waive application fees during this event.

Students will have face-to-face contact with the officials who make admission decisions at more than 50 Historically Black Colleges and Universities, including Spelman College, Grambling State University and Howard University. Seniors are encouraged to bring copies of their transcripts, SAT or ACT scores, letters of recommendation and a personal essay, if available. None of the participating colleges deny admissions based on race.
