Note to Parents:

Reading aloud helps children to develop reading fluency and to see how sentences work together to make up a story. When reading together, give your second grader plenty of chances to be the reader. Practice giving characters unique voices together and making stories come alive.

Assignment: Sharing Fairy Tales

In class, you practiced reading fairy tales aloud and sharing them with others. We should always share our favorite stories! Choose a familiar fairy tale that you love, and read it aloud to (or with) a parent or family member. Make sure you use interesting voices for the characters in the story!
