

The Warrior's Haven

My name is Kelly Deem and this is my story....
My very scary journey started early my senior year in high school 1988/1989. I started not feeling well and was feeling extremely tired, very easy. I played 3 sports and was in the best shape of my life. It was all very confusing. I started experiencing pain in my chest, back, arm/shoulder, had headaches, a giant lump on my head, and developed a limp in my right leg by the time I graduated. Time revealed these we all cancerous tumors. I had seen doctors throughout my whole senior year for these aches and pains but, was always told the pain was from playing sports. I graduated still feeling pain and went to a softball tournament in Hawaii where I received a full ride softball scholarship....I signed my letter of intent and flew home to take my physical. The nurse who performed my physical walked into the exam room shook my hair saying "Congrats girl heard your headin' to Hawaii". She felt a giant lump on my head and stopped....I told her don't worry about it, it was scar tissue. She told me as part of the physical I'd be taking some blood tests. The next day we got a call and the doctor told my mom your daughter has Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma and she is going to die....Just like that!!! The next day we got a second opinion and confirmed I had very aggressive Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma and had no more than 6 months to live! My response to that was "I WILL BEAT THIS!" I met this most wonderful doctor named Julie Rose at the San Rafael Kaiser and my healing began. I went thru 12 weeks of chemo and 6 weeks of spinal chemo to kill the tumors in my head, arm, back, hip, kidney, and one that covered my entire pelvis. The treatment was aggressive and successful except for a small tumor that remained on my pelvis. My options were a year of chemo in and out of the hospital or this new experimental bone marrow treatment, where I use my own bone marrow. My doctor fought for me to be a part of this experiment and I was one of three chosen. I had another surgery to harvest my marrow that was frozen until my transplant date of January 4, 1990. I was admitted to Pacific Presbyterian Center in San Francisco on December 26, 1989 and was transported 3 times a day to UCSF where I received full body radiation. I was then placed in a sterile bubble and had an 8 hour chemo treatment to finish off transplant prep. At this time I had no white cells, red cells, and no cancer cells...I had no immune system. I received my transplant and immediately started to rebuild my immune system. I remained in the bubble for a month and got stronger and stronger. The two other transplant recipients passed and made my experience even more surreal.

I lost my hair and suffered some painful side affects, but, in the end I kept my promise that "I WILL BEAT THIS!!" It's been 24 years and around 5 surgeries later but, I DID IT!!! Beating cancer has been the most accomplished thing I have done in my life but at a price... I've watched some of the most important people in my life lose their battles with cancer including my mother, Dori Corey. I've lost friends and relatives and always ask myself "WHY ME?" "WHY DID I SURVIVE?" I watched a beautiful boy named Andy Azevedo who was my age lose his battle. He was the only person in my life who truly understood what I was going through. He was/is truly my inspiration.

People ask me if I'm a miracle? NO! I've been chosen to continue on this beautiful journey and be the voice and heart for those who couldn't.
