SCUSD school to host job and wellness fair for community

Resume-writing workshops, community college sign-ups and free health screenings on Saturday

April 28, 2016 (Sacramento): Ethel I. Baker Elementary School is hosting a free job and wellness fair for the South Sacramento community on Saturday (April 30). More than two dozen partner organizations will participate in the fair, including Sacramento City College, Sacramento Public Library, Elica Health Centers and American Medical Response.

Community members can practice resume writing, get job interviewing tips and learn how to get a job with the state. Free wellness check-ups, vaccinations and eye exams will also be provided.

“Our goal is to help our community become empowered so they can live healthier, happier lives,” said Principal Amber Carter.

Other groups to be represented at the fair include Opening Doors Inc., Strategies for Change, Mutual Housing California, My Sister’s House, VSP, Center for Fathers and Families and Legal Services of Northern California.
