Part A – Bidding and Contract Requirements

AD 2.10:

Question: Is the District willing to consider amending the plans and specifications with an addendum such that the network active components (Switches, UPS, licensing, etc.) will be OFCI (Owner Furnished, Contractor Installed)?

- a. These network-related active switch components and licenses represent a decent sized portion of these projects.
- b. These network-related active switch components and licenses are purchases the District already makes direct for similar projects.
- c. In most cases, these suppliers are the same ones the contractors will be using.
- d. The district can save additional markups by purchasing direct

Answer: No, Contractor is able to purchase equipment listed.

Message obtained from CDWG regarding this:

“In this circumstance I have the contractor order the HW/licenses under the districts account, then utilize a credit card or a form of Pre-payment. This way it meets the requirements of it being EDU, because it is on your account, then I work with the contractor to issue 1 of the 2 payments above directly to CDW”
