1. Paragraph 4, C of the RFP states that in describing their experience proposers should “include at least two (2) school districts with similar demographics.” Is “school” district experience (as distinguished from other types of public educational districts) required in order for a proposer to be considered responsive?

Yes

Is “two (2)” districts a minimum requirement in order for a proposer to be considered responsive (keeping in mind that the scope of services a proposer may provide for one large educational district may substantially exceeding that of other proposers who have served two, three, or more smaller districts)?

Yes. The requirement would not have been a part of the RFP if we did not feel that it was important.
